

Bull Session

News and comment for the El Toro Class

April #331

This Saturday

Some organizations do not re-schedule blown-out events,,but not the BullShip!

The weather forecast is good!

From Greg,

I hope everyone is aware that we are running the BullShip Saturday.

Regardless of everything/anything..... we MUST go on and prepare for the 24th! We have only this week.

Here are the things that I see that appear must be done:

How can we support John Amen for his decision and how can we support each other to bring us together and make this regatta great?

Can we get another permit or will it work for the 24?

A new NOR has been sent out to those sailing. An email has goon out to contact them. I would think that calls to the 30 that signed up will be contacted to see to it that they are aware of the re-schedule .

I believe that we should accept new entries that possibly could not have raced the first weekend.

Hopefully all official notification possibilities will be made to inform the El Toro Fleet of the changes.

I would think that the ETIYA web site and Gordie's blog should be sufficient, as well as any other mailing if necessary. Letting people know is our duty.

Hopefully SFYC is still on board. Having been at SYC they are on board, but a contact with them would be appropriate.

The Starting boat is ready! I have Vern and Malcolm and the equipment is prepared.

Do we need a new list for check-in of the El Toros that now can sail?

I have spoken to John Fraser the head of Cow Ships. He has already asked them to take their places again. While a few of the cow ships may be saddened, a positive attitude and positive encouragement from their Bull skippers should fix this. I believe that we owe them a thank you notice again for the effort they have put in.

Are we prepared to give a speech on the 24th thanking everyone for their efforts and re-efforts?

I hope I am not out of line. I am sure there are any jobs to accomplish and planning still left to be done to make the 24th race memorable. Certainly, some may not be able to make the re-scheduled event but I believe that the tradition of the BullShip will bring us all back together on the water for a good regatta. There is lots to get done in a little time.

Let's move on, re-scheduling the BullShip this is not the end of the world. The weather gods may not have been on our side the first time around but being prepared for the next race is something we can control.

respectfully submitted
