El Toro 2015 North American Championship are over. Results at the bottom

This last day was better for the complete fleet. It was lighter with smaller waves. Juniors and most Seniors found the course a little longer and not as frightening. The committee set-up the course in as much wind as they could find. The right side of the course, which is usually favored, was today. Even though the wind was still 210-220 the waves were manageable. We do not need to forecast the weather tomorrow.

This regatta was like a good meal and it could be called "spicy", better than ever! said Chris Straub from Richmond Yacht Club. We need to add Santa Cruz to the El Toro Season Schedule.

The good news is "it's over" - the bad news is we do not get to sail with our Hawaiian friends tomorrow.

Kui Lim, nine time National Champion, mentioned that this was his first time he sailed Santa Cruz and is looking forward to returning.

The Californians hope for a top finish in the Junior and Senior fleets where Trevor Foley and Vaughn Seifers. Both finished well. But it was the Hawaiians with the First through Third in Juniors and First and Second in Seniors.

The El Toro Class is looking forward to an invitation from Kaneohe Yacht Club to host the Nationals in 2019.

The official final results at the bottom

There is a great drone video of the El Toro fleet racing on Clear Lake taken by Chris Twirbutt, a professional drone-camera guy. It can be found on the El Toro web site, Norcalsailing.com and the Scuttlebutt web site. It is very worth watching two or three times!
